

| Part time customised training

At the Biodynamic Association of Southern Africa (BDAASA), we recognize that circumstances might not allow for full time training. We have options which can be customized to your particular needs including consulting, ad hoc training, mentoring, or customized training for you or your farm?

Examples of options:

- A part-time option of 20 days of workshops per annum over 2 years (total of 40 days) non-accredited training
- Or
- Perhaps you are considering converting your farm to organic or biodynamic agricultural practices – we can offer you customized training to meet your unique needs.

Our approach delivers practical and theoretical knowledge transfer and insights

Training contributes to the development, upskilling and empowerment of potential farm managers thereby progressing from a purely laborer position

Our training creates opportunities for labourers to assist the farmers to converting their farm to organic or biodynamics and the student labourer engages and focuses with more intention with the skills that need to be learned.

Innovative co-working and co-operative partnering between students and farmers through enterprise creation and practice results in benefits for both students and farmers.

We have a UK affiliation (Crossfields UK), and we are also AgriSeta Accredited through Agriskills Transfer Pty Ltd. BDAASA is a NPO and has PBO status

Do you want more information on farm participation or just to start a conversation with us about consulting, ad hoc training, mentoring, or customized training for you or your farm?
